Thanks Allan. Good to know.

Yes, more snow and wind - not to mention bitter cold. I say "bring it on" since I will be snorkeling the warm Bahamian waters within the next couple weeks.

Take Care.

Hi again Sharon,

Piles of snow are insane, but I'm looking forward to the melting season even less. What a mess it will be. Have you checked your CSO lately?

We will not be filing a transfer request as our legal name remains PSNH, Eversource is merely a registered tradename.

Pretty disappointing only a few inches tomorrow, but at least we have 50 mph gusts to look forward to this weekend.

Good morning Allan,

Hope you have been able to dig out of all this crazy snow. I recently heard that PSNH is now Eversource Energy. However, it appears that we have not received a permit transfer request in accordance with 40 C.F.R. § 122.61(b). Could you please check into this and let me know. Thanks.
